You are an absolutely incredible kid!!! You always start every day with a great big smile. You are always eager to go to school to learn something new. Your homework is always done and you love math problems. It amazes us that at this age you understand the importance of education and its benefits.

You are always up to a challenge regardless if it is a league game of soccer, basketball or a board game with the family. We love watching you get excited when you are winning a game. We also know it is hard sometimes to accept when one has lost. It is never fun to lose, but is a very important lesson. This gives you an opportunity to learn from your mistakes and prepares you to do better in the next game.

You are a kind spirit who is always willing to help those in need. You are always trying to collect money for any cause you are made aware of and are always first offer up your $55 that you received on your last birthday.

You know the lyrics to more songs than both of us and you carry the tune pretty well. We also love to see you dance - you have some serious moves. We can't believe how flexible you are and how proud you are of your splits. You are great kid and you make us proud every day.

Love,
Mom & Dad
